SOUL

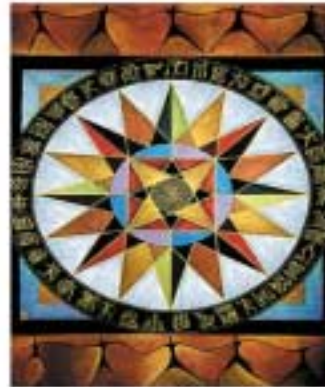

PORTRAITS

In a practical world of academic and technological prominence, creative gifts are often overlooked and undervalued. Yet, it is the very creative nature in all aspects of civilization that instigates invention, inspiration and advancement. Science, space travel and medical breakthroughs all begin with a creative stroke of ingenuity. "Thinking outside the box" is a fundamentally creative technique, which pushes the limits of set boundaries, to allow for the possibility of the unknown to become a new reality. Patricia is an intuitively gifted painter and visual artist who has struggled to find her niche in a logical, data-based society. Today, as a thriving artist and inspirational spokeswoman, Patricia speaks out to young and old on how to balance the gifts of creativity with maintaining a lifestyle. She speaks about her struggle with Dyslexia as a very young child and how it is vital that all children be encouraged to express their creativity.

Patricia creates powerful images in metallic paints from visions she translates into form. Her gift is commissioned "Soul Portraits" for individuals who seek her creative translations. Patricia divides her time between St. Petersburg Beach, Florida, and Toronto. Her original works can be found throughout the United States, Canada, England, Brazil and Europe.
